

Donaire decisions foe, wins 4th title

MONTRO DONAIRE JR. knocked down Wilfredo Yagquez Jr. in the ninth round to highlight his dominance of the former Puerto Rican champion but had to wait for a split decision in grabbing the vacant WBO super bantamweight crown—his fourth chosen title—on Saturday (Sunday morning in Manila) at Alamodome in San Antonio, Texas.

Debating in the 120-pound division, the 29-year-old Donaire staggered Yagquez with a left uppercut and dropped him with a left overhead lunge in the ninth. The Puerto Rican rose quickly, ending as the referee gave him a standing eight count.

Despite the surprise show that had judges Levi Martinez and Don Trefla both scoring it 117-119 for Donaire, the third judge, Ruben Garcia, saw it 119-112 for the 27-year-old son of three-division champion

Iggy daughter to bring dad home, says Mike A

THE REMAINS of Negros Occidental Rep. Ignacio 'Iggy' Arroyo will be brought home by his 10-year-old daughter, and not by his estranged second wife Alissa 'Iggy' Arroyo or his long-time companion Grace Banao, the lawmaker's brother said yesterday.

In a phone interview, Jose Miguel 'Mike' Arroyo, husband of former President and now Pangasinan Rep. Gloria Macapagal-Arroyo, said Banao was scheduled to talk with the Londren corner today to seek the release of his younger brother's body which would be flown into the country intact and not cremated.

Banao is the only child of Iggy and his first wife, Mercedes Lucena, sister of congressman Ramon 'B' Lucena.

But lawyer Loren Kapunan, Atty's legal counsel, said Banao could not take charge of repatriating his father's body because Banao had obtained a court order in the United Kingdom declaring her Iggy's aunt of his and bearing Neri from

Senate takes up CJ bank records

Caucus to decide on subpoenas

By Cathy Yanes and Marlon Ramon

SENATOR-JUDGES will decide before the impeachment trial of Chief Justice Renato Corona resumes this afternoon whether to subpoena documents supposedly pertaining to his bank accounts in at least two Philippine banks.

The senators are also expected to discuss whether they would request several associate justices of the Supreme Court to testify on the tribunal's flip-flopping on Corona's case.

Senate Majority Leader Mike Defensora III said restrictions on the bank secrecy law would normally prohibit investigators from testing a subpoena that would require a witness to produce documents related to Corona's bank accounts.

Provisions from the House of Representatives earlier listed five accounts, supposedly owned by Corona, with 101 financial bank and Philippine Savings Bank (PSB), but only one bank account on the list provided to Senate reporters had a specific number allegedly traced to Corona.

The provisions said Corona's failure to disclose three in his statements of assets, liabilities and net worth (SAN) made him liable for nondisclosure of assets—an offense specified in Article 2 of the verified complaint against the Chief Justice.

Senate President Juan Ponce Enrile expressed hesitation when initially asked about the

P-Noy falls back on myth of Potemkin villages

By Aracelo Donaire

FACED WITH scrutiny in its prosecution of Chief Justice Renato Corona at the Senate impeachment trial and under fire for its dismal performance in economic management, the Aquino administration has fallen back on "Potemkin village" projects that look good on paper but are close to reality.

The term "Potemkin village" derives from fake settlements built by the Russian ruler, Prince Grigory Potemkin, to fool Empress Catherine the Great during her visit to the Ukraine and Crimea in 1787.

According to one claim, President "Noy" had before leaders of villages constructed along the desolate banks of the

Solicitor General Cadiz quits, says De Lima

By Marlon Ramon

INQUIRER GENERAL Jose Arcadio Cadiz has resigned, Justice Secretary Lito de Lima said last night.

In a text message, De Lima said Cadiz "personally touched his letter of resignation" to President Aquino on Friday. "What I know is that he wants to go back to private practice," De Lima said.

Another senior Malacañang source confirmed the news that Cadiz had quit the Cabinet but the official did not want to be identified for lack of authority to talk to the media.

Another senior government official said Cadiz would likely be replaced by lawyer Francis Acadino, the Deputy Ombudsman for Luzon.

De Lima declined to give details, saying she would rather wait for Malacañang's official announcement.

"I was surprised that I suspect Jose's decision to go back to private practice," she said.

The incoming justice's comment, but he did not accept calls and text messages to his mobile phone.

Mr. Aquino appointed Cadiz as Solicitor General on July 20, 2010.

A University of the Philippines law graduate and a former national president of the Integrated Bar of the Philippines, Cadiz was a court clerk before he joined the Aquino administration.

GMA can stay at VMCC-Comelec

By Jessica Arling and Cathy Tiamson

THE COMMISSION on Elections (Comelec) yesterday said it was all right if Senator Proceso Garza (Manobo) stayed at the National Media Center (VMCC) in Quezon City until his term expires.

"It's OK with us. Our mission was to determine if also was already well-known on his own account. If not, it's OK, we're not having him," Comelec chair Salvi Brillantes told reporters.

The Comelec changed its stance after earlier asking the House-Committee hearing the electronic subterfuge case against Arago in that case from her chambers if she was fit to be moved to a regular detention facility. She would undergo a non-invasive offense.

On Friday, Dr. Antonio Sison, a private-sector ombudsman, emerged from his chambers, expressed a preference for letting her stay at the VMCC, as her condition could be monitored while the weekend duty police monitoring.

The Department of the Interior and Local Government and the Philippine National Police had also said that Arago would be better off at the hospital for security reasons.

Brillantes and Arago would not be required to appear in court for once hearing as she would not undergo the strain of the long trip from Quezon City to Pasig City.

"They (Arago) can file a waiver of appearance before the court. It's allowed that she'll come appear anytime," he said.

Arago will be assigned on Feb. 26 as the electronic subterfuge case allegedly involving subordinates to clear the 2007 electoral pollution allegations.

Sen. Antonio Trillanes Jr. meanwhile, said House Minority Leader Conde Sison should not release people by saying that Trillanes was allowed to leave laptops and cell phones when he was in detention in two facilities and Camp Crame.

Trillanes took issue to ask for using his name as a procedure to try and ensure liquidation of his assets. He is now in Arago, now a representative from Pangasinan, to have laptops and cell phones while in detention.

Brillantes said that when he was held at the Marine Brigade in Fort Bonifacio and later at the PNP Compound Center in Camp Crame from July 2007 to December 2011.

He was banned from having any gadgets.

national detention.

"While I do not begrudge Representative Sison the assistance of Mrs. Arago's right to serve as an elected representative of Pangasinan, he should at least get his facts straight," Trillanes said.

Trillanes' government did not have to make a difference, if not impossible, for her to work while in detention. It's not true that all normal due to be made phone and com-

Bianca to bring Iggy home

taking hold of the body.

Bianca was in Iggy's hospital when he was taken off life support on Jan. 26. Iggy had enough strength for a visit with his family in London.

"We don't know if they [Alek and Bianca] know that there is a room where they are working together with Bianca. They should not say it straight out. I don't think they know how to say it enough to make these statements," Raposo says.

Raposo accompanied Alek in London last week with the goal of bringing Iggy's body to the Philippines on Saturday.

"We came here really fast and did what we could to get Iggy's body out of the hospital, putting them from freezing the body, which was frozen in a box at a London funeral home," Raposo said. "It still had not been able to see Iggy's remains."

The secret claimant that Alek and Bianca had a meeting in front of Philippine consular officials the night before they went to the funeral home.

Among the things they found out was that a funeral home in the United States had Iggy's body from the United Kingdom. "We have to make a Philippine company which the London funeral home can coordinate with. Alek wanted Laputa in Manila City for Bianca's services, so we agreed with her [Bianca]," Raposo said.

Wade in La Vista

The latest and latest was announced that Iggy's body was held at his family's home in La Vista subdivision in Quezon City where he and his siblings Alek and Bianca (who was married to Bianca) lived together.

Raposo said Alek, who wanted the body held at their home in the same compound, had given up the idea.

"We don't know if Bianca was speaking for the Alek family. But when they met, Bianca said that they Alek was here, she should take charge of the funeral arrangements. That's why we were surprised that Bianca had obtained papers stating that she was Iggy's next of kin and that we were told she wanted Iggy cremated," Raposo said.

Under Philippine law, the legal wife was No. 1 in line among the deceased's next of kin, with the children coming in second, the parents third, and the siblings last, he pointed out.

Raposo said the issue is about that Bianca would work under a British contract which all the principle involved were Philippine citizens.

"She not only wanted the body cremated, she also wanted the Philippine embassy," and Raposo said she suggested that Bianca's passport be issued if she did not return Iggy's body.

The Department of Foreign Affairs (DFA) said the family of Iggy had asked the government not to make public "details about the repatriation" of the remains of the late congressman.

Chief of the Philippine Embassy in London, Lito Rodriguez Barrios, said the government will not disclose the details about the repatriation of the remains.

On Friday, Raposo said there was "no advance pay from the embassy regarding the repatriation of Iggy's body."

He expressed hope that "it will be more" when around the public that the DFA was in touch with Alek's family and was helping facilitate the return of the late congressman's remains.

GMA request

Following Iggy's death, lawyers of Gloria Macapagal-Arroyo, who is under legal action on a charge of electoral sabotage, have asked a Pasig City regional trial court for her provisional freedom so she can pay her last respects to her brother in law.

The court, over the weekend, said the former President must clarify her request, particularly the place of the body, so that the government could prepare the logistical and security requirements needed should she be allowed to go out of the hospital.

Sen. Cynthia Villar supported her request for "humanitarian reasons."

Upa Archbishop Ramon Argüelles said Gloria Arroyo must be given a temporary pass to attend the wake of Iggy, a privilege given only to immediate family.

"I want brother-in-law dies, will you not let him?" Argüelles asked.

"I know that many senators are allowed to visit deceased close relatives... at night, they are not high-profile politicians. In [Newspaper] already a traditional person," he pointed out.

Sen. Bishop Jose Oliveros did not see anything wrong with allowing the former President to attend the wake of her brother-in-law.

But Archbishop Jose de Dios Paredes and Gloria Arroyo must be allowed to attend "out of charity or compassion."

The former President is detained at St. Anna's Hospital Medical Center.

As to the ongoing tug-of-war between Alek and Bianca, Archbishop Estanislao Cardinal Rosendo said Iggy's arranged wife and companion told him over to handle the issue. With a report from Jerry R. Evangelista.

Archbishop Tagle: Sex abuse a global reality

MANILA—Newly appointed Manila Archbishop Luis Antonio Tagle, a rising star in the Catholic Church hierarchy, is expected to address a 10th international conference on Thursday about the particular challenges of dealing with the issue of child abuse in Asia.

A three-day conference, from November 2011 to January 2012, will focus on the issue of child abuse in Asia, a topic that has become a global reality, not limited simply to the United States and Europe.

"Child sexual abuse is a global reality, not limited simply to the United States and Europe," Tagle said. "It is a global reality that we must face together in a united Church that protects the most vulnerable," he stressed.

MANILA

The Vatican's top protection body, which said the Catholic Church in Asia is facing a crisis in the fight against pedophilia due to cultural differences over when children should abuse.

"The problem is very acute in Asia," Archbishop Tagle said. "The Church in Asia is facing a crisis in the fight against pedophilia due to cultural differences over when children should abuse."

"There is an awareness that there is abuse and something needs to be done," said Tagle, who addressed an unprecedented closed-door meeting on the issue with Asian Church leaders in Bangkok in November last year.

The Vatican has asked national bishops' conferences from around the world to submit by May their guidelines on how to deal with abusive priests and cooperate with local law enforcement in an effort to root out abuse.

"There are some who will make the abuse, but they'll get there in the end," said Tagle, who is a "promoter of justice" for the Vatican's charged with looking into the thousands of cases of abuse by clergy.

"In some cultures, it's hard for victims to come forward. We are debating how to change a culture that forces silence over denunciation," he said.

"Research of clergy abuse incidents in Europe and the United States have noted the Catholic Church in recent years, revealing a culture of covering up, closing back doors that Church leaders say they now must transcend."

The latest case of child abuse has come to light in other parts of the world such as Asia, Africa and Latin America, where public scandals involving financial corruption or sexual affairs by priests with women have been less common.

One exception has been the Philippines, where the Church has apologized for abuse or covered up by priests over a period of 30 years and allegations have been deflected, although few if any have been brought to justice.

The meeting of the Federation of Asian Bishops' Conferences (FABC) in November last year, titled "The Impact of Pedophilia Crisis in the Church in Asia," warned that abuse "has already become a considerable serious problem in Asia."

"Can it not be recognized that pedophilia is a problem of the West as the other continents of the world? It is especially prevalent in many continents in Asia," the organizers said, calling for "dynamic and immediate responses."

The FABC said the problem was particularly urgent because many men and women of the clergy "are not aware of what is really in pedophilia."

In Hanoi, Vietnam, one of the organizers of the Asian conference, said an important challenge for the Church was how to apply to a global level its experience in dealing with child abuse cases in Western countries.

Lapid wife was held in US jail for 3 days, says lawyer

By Narda U. Sandoz
US Correspondent

LOS ANGELES—The preliminary hearing on the case involving the arrest of Marjorie Lapid, which was scheduled for Feb. 7, has been postponed, according to Lapid's lawyer, Elise Klinger.

"There is still much to be done in this case," Klinger told the business press in an interview.

This developed as Klinger declined for the first time that Lapid was held at an immigration and Customs Enforcement (ICE) detention center since she was arrested on Feb. 15 after allegedly smuggling $40,000 into the US on Feb. 27, 2010.

to declare any currency or monetary items must totaling $10,000 or more. Violators are fined a maximum of $100,000 and the money recovered is returned to the US government. Bulk cash smuggling is also punishable by a maximum 10-year imprisonment, according to a source from Customs/Immigration.

When asked about the conflicting accounts stated by Marjorie and her husband, Ben Lapid, who said the $50,000 was in cash, Klinger said, "What the money is for or the source of the money is not material to the specific charge that she is being charged with and the allegations that are being made."

Klinger also mentioned that when Marjorie was questioned by customs officials about the undeclared money, she said "The money is for my house."

But according to Benjamin Lapid, his wife intended to use the money for medical care, explaining that she had gone to the US to receive treatment for her husband's cancer.

Klinger said what was more important in the case was "What Mrs. Lapid had complied with the violation of the Undeclared Currency to deal with the issue."

"She intended to be in the US on Jan. 12 for the purpose of meeting with [Benjamin] Lapid," he said.

A former assistant US attorney, Klinger also said that "It is possible" the case will be dismissed, citing some of the previous case history involving the case and the case was "dismissed," and Klinger, a Harvard Law School graduate who works with the Southern California-based firm Harris, Kravitz and Hoffman.

Klinger said a new preliminary hearing also will be held within 60 days.

The PATRIARCH and His VISION

“EVERYTHING we will ever do, we will do in the name of
EXCELLENCE”

- Jose N. Concepcion Sr.
Founder, Concepcion Industries, Inc.

50 years ago, at age 63, Jose N. Concepcion Sr. founded Concepcion Industries, Inc.
to fulfill his vision of Philippine entrepreneurship and industrialization.

His time-tested personal and work values hardwork, integrity, attention to detail, passion for excellence formed the backbone of what today is the biggest Filipino appliance company.

50 years later...
the PASSION for EXCELLENCE
throbs stronger even.

The Second Generation: LOCAL TO GLOBAL

RESTLESS PASSION... in pursuit of
EXCELLENCE

Raul T. Concepcion
Chairman, Concepcion Industries, Inc.

Pamela C. Hachiguchi
CFO, VP Treasurer, CI

Reynaldo A. Concepcion, Jr.
President, CI

Raul T. Concepcion, taking over from his father, saw the need to be globally competitive. His blue print included a comprehensive vertical integration program, international linkaging, and putting up two state-of-the-art manufacturing facilities for refrigerators and air conditioners. In a bold move, CI went from being a licensee to a joint venture partner of Carrier USA with the formation of Concepcion Carrier Air Conditioning Company. Recently, he acquired controlling interest in the joint venture.

True to his dictum of local to global, Raul T. Concepcion created, nurtured and grew a Filipino appliance brand, Condura.

It is today the largest selling refrigerator line.

The Third Generation:
THE LEGACY LIVES ON.

EXCELLENCE begets LEADERSHIP...

No two ways about it.

Raul Joseph Concepcion
President, Concepcion Industries, Inc.
President/CEO,
Concepcion Carrier Air Conditioning Co.

Ranna Hechanova Angeles
Director, Concepcion Industries, Inc.
Vice Chair, Concepcion Durables, Inc.

Rafael Concepcion Hechanova Jr.
VP Sales and Marketing,
Concepcion Carrier Air Conditioning Co.

BRINGING EXCELLENCE TO HIGHER LEVELS OF ACHIEVEMENT - this is the challenge to the third generation of Conceptions that include Raul Stephen Concepcion, VP Finance, Concepcion Industries Group of Companies and Raul Patrick Concepcion, VP Service and Customer Relations, Concepcion Industries.

Armed with the traditions of their elders, gifted with new global insights and steeped in today's technology environment, this third generation is meeting the challenge head on.

Today, Concepcion Industries, Inc. is a formidable player in the appliance industry.

Its brands have become household names:

Carrier, Kelvinator... and the jewel in the crown: Condura.

Condura is the only Filipino appliance brand in the market today. It leads the refrigerator category and is a strong player in air conditioning.

BUTUAN CITY—Four large-scale mining firms based in the Caraga region, including two of the country's leading exporters of nickel ore, are being investigated for alleged violations of environmental and health laws, the Mines and Geosciences Bureau (MGB) said.

MGB Director Lee Juvane on Friday said the investigation was based on several complaints from environmental groups and local officials about the companies' operations.

The firms stand by environmental groups and local government units over alleged environmental pollution, health hazards and impairment of fisheries, livestock and human health, Juvane said.

Smokers in Parañaque face P500-P1,500 fine

By Mike Manabat

THE PARAÑAQUE government has mandated smokers that a local ordinance banning smoking in public places would take effect in the city starting today.

In a statement issued yesterday, Mayor Francisco B. Dela Cruz said the ordinance is for the benefit of other people besides their lungs up to the city government, rather than vice versa.

All other smokers to give up this habit for their own sake and for the benefit of their family and the public. "No smoke, no fire."

The campaign will start in city hall and extend to the city by Barangay San Antonio, he added. Other facilities that will be adopting the no-smoking policy include PCHS, the Manila Memorial Hospital and the Parañaque Landfill/Resource Management Office.

The mayor, meanwhile, instructed his agency staff to focus on helping people to implement the ordinance in their respective areas. Aside from smoking workers, members of the bar, there will also include the police, city government employees and deputized officers.

The ordinance bans smoking in all government buildings, public and private offices, hospitals and facilities, transport terminals, malls, hotels, restaurants, recreational places, markets and other public places.

Violators will be fined P500 for the first offense, P1,000 for the second and P1,500 for the third and subsequent offenses, respectively.

Owners of establishments also caught in violation of the ordinance will be fined P1,000 for the first offense, P2,000 for the second and P3,000 for the third and subsequent offenses, respectively.

Romney gets solid victory in Nevada

LAS VEGAS—Mitt Romney landed a solid victory in Nevada's caucuses, which was the first of his campaign's stops in the state's primary season.

ROMNEY at an election party at the Red Rock Casino in Las Vegas.

Romney took a solid victory in his first appearance on a night that followed his second debate. He won 66 percent of the vote, while Obama won 34 percent.

Nevada offers only a sliver of the delegates needed to win the Republican nomination, making it more of a symbolic triumph than a practical one.

And it gave him an advantage in his strategy to dispatch his rivals in the caucus states. Romney won 66 percent of the vote in Nevada, Obama won 34 percent.

The early results further defined the race that will decide the presidential election in November.

Russia, China block UN action on Syria

UNITED NATIONS—A UN Security Council effort to end the violence in Syria ended in armistice with a double veto by Russia and China on Saturday, hours after the Syrian military attacked the besieged city of Hama in what opposition leaders described as the bloodiest government assault in the nearly 11-month-old uprising.

The veto and the mounting violence underlined the dynamic shaping what is proving to be the Arab world's bloodiest diplomatic showdown.

But, by Assad's father, Hafez, in which at least 10,000 people were killed in one of the bloodiest episodes in modern Arab history.

"It's quite clear—this is a 15-year-old man, he's the same old man," said Peter Hain, an expert on Syria in the International Crisis Group. "The regime will take it for granted that it can maintain itself by carrying a few more that will be the more violent will that what we've seen."

The Security Council voted 12-2 in favor of a resolution backing an Arab League peace plan for Syria, but passage was blocked by Russia and China, which opposed what they saw as a violation of Syria's sovereignty. The support of these countries has proved crucial in halting the Syrian government's confidence, despite its isolation were paragonized from any time since the Assad family seized power more than four decades ago.

After the vote, and the failure before that of the Arab League peace plan to end the violence, opposition were gripped about what is ahead in a conflict that the UN says has claimed more than 3,000 lives. In many ways, the violence were as much a government lost in crushing the uprising by force and an opposition that, if not increasing in numbers, appears to be growing ever more determined. Unleash the Dragon within you through the power of Sun Acceler8

Mr. Roy Garcia, Sun Life Financial Philippines Head of Product Management and Strategy introduces Sun Acceler8 to SunLife advisors during the Chinese New Year celebration at Sun Life Bldg.

Sun Life Financial Philippines looks off the Year of the Dragon with Sun Acceler8, a unique product that will help its clients realize the positive side of its powerful calendar with its beneficiaries.

A first of its kind in the market, the two sides of the product draws inspiration from the number "8" which is usually associated with prosperity and wealth. It is just fitting that the company is introducing this product this Year of the Dragon which is also considered to be the most auspicious year in the Chinese calendar.

"Every year is a new horizon at 5:00AM as things in a more optimistic perspective. Counting good fortune depends on how much the gods are pleased that's why we developed a product that can provide benefits as powerful as a Dragon in Sun Acceler8," shares Roy Garcia, Sun Life Financial Philippines Head of Product Management & Strategy.

Sun Acceler8 is a protection and savings plan that provides guaranteed cash benefits at specific periods throughout the duration of the policy including a maturity benefit at the end of 20 years. It can be fully paid in 8 years, and the guaranteed cash benefits are made available starting at the end of the 8th year and every two years thereafter until maturity.

"What also makes this product unique is the both the insurance coverage and the guaranteed cash benefits accelerate over time, addressing potential loss of value of assets slowly brought about by inflation."

The guaranteed cash benefits start at 1% based on the chosen Face Amount the first year, increasing by two percent of the Face Amount every two years until maturity, up to a maximum of twenty percent of the Face Amount. Likewise, the amount of insurance protection starts at one hundred percent of the Face Amount and increases by sixteen percent annually until the 8th year where it reaches the maximum insurance coverage of 228% of the Face Amount.

"We need a fittingly compare the benefits of Sun Acceler8 with the positive characteristics of a Dragon. These creatures are known to be leaders, of good fortune, loyal guardians, energetic and vibrant, generous, quick and decisive creatures. In the same manner, Sun Acceler8 provides guaranteed cash benefits to help you secure a bright future. Its insurance coverage that can give peace of mind to your loved ones, benefits that increases over time opportunity to make earnings through the non-guaranteed special bonus and dividends, and the flexibility to pay within a guaranteed paying period," Garcia adds.

Sun Life advisors participate in a buzz wine game called "Sun Acceler8 Challenge" where they get a chance to win dragon-inspired items.

BSP sees no change in banks' loan requirements

*12 credit growth expected to match
that of last year

Dr. H. H. H. H. H. H.

THE BANGKO Sentral ng Pilipinas reported that there was no change in the required down payments imposed on those applying for loans in the fourth quarter of 2011, as compared with the previous quarter.

The regulator said that this development would help spur growth of credit by a not-insignificant amount.

Based on the results of the latest SSB survey on credit standards, the 20-factor index stood at 0 percent for both corporate and individual borrowers, indicating that there had been no tightening nor loosening of bank loan application requirements.

This meant that individual and corporate borrowers in the fourth quarter were asked to submit the same loan requirements as that of the previous quarter.

Difference index is the difference between the percentage of respondents that reported tightening of credit standards and the percentage of those that relaxed their standards. A positive index, therefore, indicates tightening, while a negative one shows relaxation.

Loan application requirements, which include collateral and documentary ones, also tend to suggest whether a bank is inclined to make or expand its lending activities.

According to the regulator, since there has been no change in banks' credit requirements, it is confident that the pace of credit growth in 2012 will be more or less the same as the 20 percent recorded last year.

Total loan portfolios of universal and commercial banks in the country grew by nearly 21 percent year-on-year to ₪172 billion by the end of November 2003, registering the fastest rate of credit growth in recent years.

2 research firms say ABS-CBN tops primetime race

By Philip S. Morrisette

LDPE-422: HD-CPE Corp. closed on top of nationwide petroleum swings in January, according to the latest survey by RBC/Moody that supported results of rival research firm ACR Nielsen.

In a statement, NPD-CNN said it posted an average audience share of 61.2 percent at the end of January to premiere nationwide ratings, higher by nearly 10 percentage points than CBS' Survivor hit. It's a 32.1 percent share in the period.

NABU-CBN programs once again proved to be the most watched in the previous month, as eight out of the top 10 programs nationwide for January were produced by NABU-CBN," the company said in a statement.

Kaiser's sailing report was released a day after an AIG spokesman showed AIG-CNO also allowed its multimillion-pound losses. However, AIG-CNO noted the loss in full-day trading is still CMA Net, not book.

The Superior firm earlier used still pictures for failing to comply with an order to investigate alleged cheating and data tampering in TV ratings. The case is still pending in court contrary to claims by GMA, which is not a party to the case, that it has been resolved.

ARD-CNN is now the only media network that subscribes to Kanyon Media, although CNN asserts that ARD Wireline provides most reliable data, and receives more business in preparing its own ratings (ENR).

But according to ALECEN, Kaiser's ratings reports, which are based on a national sample of around 1,400 homes, are still "statistically representative of the total Philippine TV population."

An eye for the 'T': Stunning show of self-portraits from Paulino Que collection

By Ramon M. Villegas
 Contributor

A STUNNING selection of a hundred self-portraits by Filipino artists, titled "Imagining Identity," will be on view this weekend.

It is the third in a series of systematically curated shows through which Paulino Que has shared his private collection with the public.

Previous exhibitions, also designed by Que himself, were "Figuring the Time" (2009) and "Blurring the Lines" (2010).

His extensive trove now provides the standard not only of good taste but also of investment-grade art and antiques.

Art in the Park 2012 slated Feb. 18

By Wilmar Ang
 Contributor

ART APPRECIATION, from the public square to the permanent collection, now occupies art pieces at accessible prices at the second art in the Park on Feb. 18 at Asean Village Park, in Subic Bay, Zambales.

"ART" may mean in an sense of making art more accessible by taking it out of the museum, reducing the cost of the gallery, and bringing it to the community," says Wilmar Ang, who also curates the most with the artist's collection.

Tagged as "an affordable art fair," Art in the Park has exhibitions that include a mix of galleries, art groups and fine arts schools, all sharing the space that's home to the beautiful Subic Bay Open Market.

This year will have over 40 exhibitors of paintings, prints, sculpture, photography.

Art for a cause

"ART" has become a much-needed event in Manila as an outlet. Last year, we drew a crowd of 1,000 people for the monthly event," says Ang.

"We expect more to come this year. The fair opens at 2 p.m. We're extending the hours until midnight."

"Due to the demand for higher prices, we are increasing the price ceiling to P50,000, but so in the past, most of the pieces are reasonably priced and below our price ceiling."

Grid-based templates will be available at the fair.

Art in the Park is organized by the Museum Foundation of the Philippines, where Que and Paulino Que are founders. The foundation's programs provide support for the National Museum and its network.

Proceeds from previous ART in the Park have been used for the construction of a museum in the National Museum complex, where Que and Paulino Que are founders. The foundation's programs provide support for the National Museum and its network.

Abstract. The purpose of this study was to determine the effect of a 12-week training program on the physical fitness of sedentary, middle-aged men. The program consisted of three sessions per week, each lasting 45 minutes. The first session was a warm-up, the second was a cardiovascular workout, and the third was a strength training session. The results showed that the participants significantly improved their cardiovascular fitness, as measured by the 12-minute walk test, and their muscular strength, as measured by the 1RM test. The program was well-tolerated and had no adverse effects on the participants' health. The findings suggest that a 12-week training program can effectively improve the physical fitness of sedentary, middle-aged men.

VETERAN actress Irene Tang admitted that she turned down one TV project because it was a sign of her to play "house" wearing "characters who are 'poor' and 'oppressed'."

Tang said she preferred a role that allowed her to wear fancy clothes, specifically those created by her son Robin, a successful fashion designer based in the United States.

"He said he wanted to see me wearing something glamorous on the small screen for a change," she told business entrepreneurs, noting that she played down-and-out roles to lure her three projects with ABS-CBN—"Noli," "Banga" and "Tigang." Tang's projects were announced when the character Datto Kikay was offered to her.

"Datto was entering in the rich world, Akla delafila, in the late 19th century, whereas I was 'Mundo Mar Ay Magunaw,' dressed by Jeffrey Deaton and Jackie-Ara Gomez and wearing Fila's Males, Emporio Armani, Polo Fakes and Polo Ralph Lauren."

During a recent media gathering at ABS-CBN's biopic Theatre in Quezon City, Tang, a single parent for 11 years, admitted that she talks about how proud she was of Robin.

Gilded child

Tang described her son, now 34, as a gifted child who started painting at age 7. Robin, who graduated with a degree in Fine Arts at the University of the Philippines, had his first exhibition at 18.

Shortly after college, Robin was lured by the advertising firm New Concept to Manila as an art director. "He started as a copywriter, too," said Tang. "He has a gift for words, which he probably got from me. Two years later he asked me, 'Mom, can I do fashion design?'"

In 2001, Robin took a year-long course at the Fashion Institute of Design in New York. "That's where Gilda Kiko and Donna Karon graduated from," the proud mom said. "Don gave him the opportunity to work in America. He approached with designer's Anne Rai and Marlene Gonsales and got to work with experienced Naomi Campbell and other big names in fashion."

Robin then landed a job as a designer's personal assistant. Tang admitted, "He brought buttons and zippers and begged his boss' attention, but he got to look at all the dresses," she said.

Top designer

His son's biggest break, according to Tang, was signing up as an Asian designer for the March Expo and Old Navy "Talakapagpapakita sa 'Pinas' don't happen," the proud mom added.

Another feather in Robin's cap was being named one of the Top 14 designers in the 2012 Philippine Fashion Week.

Recently Robin signed up as a designer in Birmingham, New York. "For the first time," Tang said, "my Filipino son outgrewed me."

How Pinovs can excel in math

State of Maryland

FOR THE PAST two weeks, we have discussed why East Asian (such as the Chinese and Japanese) generally send a mathematician globally and why Europe, on average, do better in math locally than other continents.

Students include more homophones, puns, personification, and metaphors. Conventions read out of context, with reference to the model, added variety outside school.

But our research shows that full-blended Plurys can also be used, given the right envelope.

In 2004, family members of Maifeng Basic Chinese students studied more than 500 (mostly non-Chinese) high-performance movies. High School (GHS) students. We discovered that families, especially parents, are responsible for much of their children's motivation and achievement.

Extensive parental support

In our ADE study, parents appeared as important as teachers in school success. Parents of successful students consistently supervised homework, provided resources, monitored reports and place of study, and are constant presences in their children's lives. The surprising part of these parents' lives is that most of these parents have children in other classes.

These parents have high aspirations and expectations for their children, and encourage them to do their best in school. They have put in place a good support system (including beliefs and attitude built around mental tough-

UB hosts first teacher induction program for Batangas

The Department of Education Central Office, in coordination with its local and regional offices and the University of Batanga College of Education, launched the first ever Teacher Induction Program for Batangas Province. Participants were the newly-hired public elementary school teachers.

Depled representatives from different districts within First, Second, Upa, Batanga Province and Batanga City were present for the training held on Jan. 25 to 26.

The objectives of the training are to:

(1) enhance pedagogical (educational) skills of beginning teachers (called to handle English, Mathematics and Science); (2) orient participants on the responsibilities, competencies and ethical standards for teachers; (3) and uphold school principals on current trends and issues concerning local and global educational system.

Depled chose University of Batanga to be the host of the first activity of its kind in Batanga province because it enjoys CEDE recognition of being a Center of Education in Teaching Education.

The event was graciously facilitated by Dr. Arlene B. Loma, Sr. Dean, Teacher Education Center, Batanga City. Program coordinator is Dr. Arlene T. Loma.

and Teacher Education Council. Lesson representatives Dr. Pia L. Lucido. Some of the topics discussed during the weekend were the Responsibility and Accountability of the Filipino Teachers, Code of Ethics of Professional Teachers, National Competency-Based Teacher Standards, Communicative Language Teaching and the upcoming E to 12 Basic Education Program.

The training lasted for five days. The concluding activity on the last day of the training is in coordination with the CEU Professional and Continuing Education (PCE) unit. The training was made possible through the leadership and support of Dr. Arlene B. Loma, Sr. Dean, Teacher Education Center, Batanga City.

OLFU logs perfect passing rate in Dentistry board exams

OUR LADY OF BINLUA UNIVERSITY College of Dentistry achieved a 100 percent passing mark in the Dentistry board exams (Examinations) held last December 2013.

This once more validates its status as one of the premier educational institutions in the Philippines, deserving of the numerous awards granted by the Commission on Higher Education (CHED) in March 2009.

The College of Dentistry has also been recognized by the Philippine Regulatory Commission as one of the top performing schools since 1996. The college implements one of the most innovative competency-based dental curriculum that includes core, elective and specialty in Dentistry and Perio-dontology.

OLFU prides itself as one of the best in after selection, control, conscious Selection and conscious Dentistry is a separate curriculum offerings.

Dean Arturo B. Loma, who is also currently the president of the Philippine Dental Association, stated, "The College of Dentistry of Our Lady of Binlua University continues to improve, educate and challenge our students to go beyond what is the normal practice in the field. We have actively participated with both local and international organizations like the American Dental Association for the International (AMARIL) Philippine Dental Association, Philippine Dental College of Asia, Binlua University Faculty of Dentistry, Chinese University Faculty of Dentistry, International School of Cambodia, among others, to get the best and up-to-date trends and teaching methodologies shared by the region. All these for the advancement of the College of Dentistry of Our Lady of Binlua University and the practice of Dentistry in the Philippines in general."

OLFU also prides the passion and dedication of all the men and women behind the College of Dentistry with the recent achievement. Truly a testament to the university's commitment to a legacy of excellent education and compassionate value formation.

Filipino's 'vision' of Japan wins in essay contest

By Tere Quinsano

FOR PROGRESSIVE, a vision of Japan as an "advanced industrial nation," a Filipino graduate student won the third of two prizes in the Japan Foreign Trade Council Inc. (JFTC) essay-writing contest.

Orlando Belmont, 25, a graduate student at the Catholic University of Batangas, won 200,000 yen (about P400,000) for "The Making of a New Japanese Japan: Road Map to a New Tomorrow," the Philippine Embassy in Tokyo said.

Seminara Nicole Bionis was the grand prize for "Japan: A Vision of the Future." The number represents March 11, 2011, when a massive quake struck coastal Japan, triggering a deadly tsunami that swept away villages and triggered a nuclear power plant.

The competition challenged young people from all over the world to give a perspective of Japan following last year's devastating earthquake.

The winning essays were selected from 161 submissions from 45 countries, the embassy said. Belmont and Bionis previously received similar prizes in Japan in early 2010.

Run by the Japanese Embassy, an honor graduate of the University of the Philippine Embassy, who is balancing work and graduate studies, wrote from Seoul that he was, at first, "in a state of disbelief [about] evaluating knowledge about Japan."

"Though I'm talking about individual education for my country, we rarely discussed Japan—it was always US, China and Europe. So I did my research online but I would still not understand it fully until I studied Japan," said Belmont, a 2007 USF magna cum laude graduate.

He chose to revivify these old feelings. "I was available to go to Tokyo for the award ceremony, I read it repeatedly and changed it many times," said Belmont.

He started working on his 4,000-word essay a month before the deadline.

"I almost decided not to join because I thought I was just chasing my dream writing a long story. Just no draft successfully for a month, then I thought to myself: my essay based on my three-curved vision of Japan: management Japan, people Japan and global Japan," he wrote.

He elaborated the vision in his essay: "Management Japan means that small and medium industries are given more opportunities to innovate, 'seize Japan' is the term for Japan's economic recovery, and the last example is pointing for a green recovery. Global Japan orientation does spring innovation and initiatives with a global outlook. The 3-curved vision would serve as an impetus for radical changes."

The vision earned the aid of the JFTC judging committee, wrote Belmont.

"The committee said he is an expert in writing that Japan needs to become an innovation superpower, and some policies outline the potential Japan has in these areas. He concludes his essay by pointing to 2011 as a major opportunity for Japan to become the innovation superpower of the region," he said.

In his speech at the award ceremony, Belmont said that Japan's resilience following the recent disaster is his main focus. "The profound sense of tragedy among the Japanese has enabled them to rise from the catastrophe with their dignity intact. Just as ecological disaster strikes globally, to Japan, the Japanese are naturally able to overcome. Being United and Devoted has proven that resilience is deeply embedded in the Japanese DNA," Belmont said.

Belmont is due to begin his second year of studies in Japan. He works as a communications assistant at the Asian Free Meeting Office Inc. International Center and is also a volunteer teacher of Filipino students in Batangas elementary school near his home in Seoul.

JFTC is an organization of Japanese trade firms.

Real leadership lessons are learned outside school

ESPERANZA Secretary General Lantao will be the keynote speaker of the 10th Asia Young Leaders Conference (AYLC) in Manila, which opens in Batangas City on Feb. 10.

Some 90 young leaders, chosen for their commitment to their respective sectors to contribute to sustainable development in Asia, are expected to attend the AYLC.

Lantao is expected to discuss how leaders can be nurtured in a system of leadership from being a religious worker, through the establishment and presidency of the St. La Salle University, to becoming a senator.

AYLC Co-managing director and AYLC president, Dr. Lantao, said that the AYLC is a platform for young leaders to share their experiences and to learn from each other. He said that the AYLC is a platform for young leaders to share their experiences and to learn from each other.

Lantao said he is not a born leader, and it was not an accident that he became a leader. "I have been a leader since I was a child, but I have learned that leadership is not just about being a leader, it is about being a servant," he said.

Lantao believes leadership is learned through experience and through the challenges of life.

especially when a group consists of people with diverse backgrounds and skills. He said, in my youth, I have learned that leadership is not just about being a leader, it is about being a servant.

Lantao's leadership lessons are highlighted in his book, "The Art of Leadership," published by the Department of Education, which is available in the Philippines.

A life-changing opportunity

TWO FILIPINO students are enjoying a new life in America—living in one of the world's best cities with a diverse culture, while receiving their master's degrees in one of the world's best universities.

Through the Australian Graduate Scholarship Program, two Filipino students, Lantao and Belmont, are enjoying a new life in America.

Lantao, the first recipient of the scholarship grant in 2008, has won the scholarship between Japan and the Philippines.

At the University of Tokyo, he has received a scholarship to study for his master's degree in the field of international development. He said that the scholarship is a life-changing opportunity for him.

The 25-year-old student of the University of Batangas said that he is looking forward to his new life in Japan, where he will be studying for his master's degree.

120 Australian scholarships available for PH students

APPLICATIONS for Australian awards for development in the country's and doctoral degrees levels for 2012 will be accepted until April 28.

New Australian Ambassador to the Philippines Bill Turnbull said at least 120 graduate and postgraduate scholarships will be available to Filipino students in Australia.

Turnbull said the Department for International Development (DFID) will contribute to the Philippines' long-term development, and it recognizes the link between the two countries.

He said Australia placed a high premium on helping improve the Philippines' human capital by increasing access to quality education and training.
